article, "Young Bloods Movin' in on Crime Syndicate".

SAM (MOONEY) GIANCANA, for the last 18 months the strong man of the Chicago Crime Syndicate, is on his way out.

WILLIE (Potatoes) D'ADDARIO, who has a fearsome reputation as a torturer, is the heir apparent to succeed GIANCANA as the actual operating director of the Syndicate.

This was apparent Tuesday night when the "young bloods" of the syndicate held another of their frequent meetings in the Armory lounge at 7427 Roosevelt Rd., Forest Park.

GIANCANA was there along with PHIL ALDERISIO and his partner ALBERT (ORRIE) PIAFOTTA, both gunmen and muscle-men, and FIGGE (FIFI) PUCCINI, a gambler and hoodlum.

But the snap and precision given to other such meetings in recent weeks by the attendance of WILLIE POTATOES was absent, as was WILLIE himself.

Also missing were two other reported members of the clique: SAM (TILTZ) BATTAGLIA, who reportedly plans executions for the Syndicate, and JOE SAGLIANO, hoodlum and racketeer who turned up on the payroll of JOSEPH BOUCHE, Melrose Park Beer distributor who was wounded critically Sunday by two gunmen.

Investigators believe that WILLIE POTATOES was tapped as the new chief of the Syndicate's "young bloods" because he is the only hoodlum strong enough to keep them under control.

No position is defined clearly in the

Will TONY ACCARDO be able to run the crime syndicate from behind bars? The answer to that hangs on the answers to two other questions: "How long will ACCARDO's sentence be--and how long will "the boys" wait?"

Capt. JOHN MOSS of the Intelligence Unit of the Bureau of Inspectional Services said that if and Supt. JOSEPH J. MORRIS said that there are others who would share control with GIANGANA. Among them are Accardo's pal and former chauffeur, JACK CIPONE of 2000 N. 77th Ave., Elmwood Park, and WILLIE (TATTOOS) DADDANO, of 8109 W. 26th St., North Riverside.

the Senate Rackets Committee recently with the assistance of the Chicago Office of the FBI and that investigation of him by this office determined that he is a former executioner for the syndicate in Chicago, and that at the present time, he is in charge of gambling operations for the syndicate on the far West Side of Chicago and in Melrose Park, Illinois, a western suburb of Chicago.

Information was received by the CGC on June 12, 1953 to the effect that CLEM GIAVER, State Legislator for the First Ward of Chicago, who just prior to that time had been kidnapped and as of the date of this report has not been heard from, was allegedly kidnapped because he took some money from SAM GIANCANA, a top hoodlum in Chicago, to get someone out of prison, and did not deliver. The CGC stated that their information indicated that SAM BATTAGLIA and GUS ALIX, along with FRANK FERRAPO, were assigned to handle the kidnapping either themselves or through others.

At least six individuals who appeared to be employees of this farm were observed working on a stock fence in the rear of one of the horse sheds. In addition to the farm house which adjoins Pingree Road on this farm, there are several other buildings on both sides of the road. Across from the house is an area in which many railroad type posts are stored in piles and which are apparently used as fence posts. The white fence surrounding this farm appears to have been newly painted. Several automobiles, some very recent models, were observed parked in the rear of this house, but the license plates on these vehicles could not be determined

COP DISCOVERS A 'TOUGH' HOOD HAS GLASS JAW

12-1-7 Battaglia Tangles in an Alley—and Loses

BY SANDY SMITH

The reputation of Sam [Teetz] Battaglia, 53, as one of Chicago's toughest gangsters was exploded yesterday as a myth. A Chicago police sergeant, Francis Nash, did it with one punch.

It all began when Nash and three other detectives in the Chicago police intelligence squad set out to look over a mob conference in the home of Sam [Mooney] Giancana, a gang chief, at 1147 S. Wenonah av., Oak Park.

The meeting was said to have been arranged by Giancana to discuss measures to head off police investigations of eight recent gang murders which have been linked with the mob's loan sharks.

Meeting Is Adjourned

The meeting was in adjournment by the time Nash and his partners—Detectives John Zitek, Maurice Guerin, and Frank Kenny—arrived at Giancana's residence. So, the policemen checked a few suburban gang hangouts and then headed back to Chicago thru Oak Park.

In Oak Park, near Battaglia's home at 1114 Ridgeland av., Battaglia and his driver, Rocco Salvatore, a juke box racketeer, spotted the Chicago police squad. The hoodlums sped off in their auto, with the detectives in pursuit. The chase went at high speed for a mile until Salvatore slammed his car to a stop in an alley near Elmwood avenue and Division street in Oak Park. Nash's squad was close behind.

Out of the car came Battaglia. He cursed Nash, attempted to tear his shirt, and challenged him to a fight. The gangster attacked with two wild haymakers, which missed. Then Nash pushed him away with a light left jab.

"Don't Hit Me!"

At once Battaglia, who outweighed Nash by 20 pounds, announced that he had overmatched himself.

"Don't hit me, don't hit me again, you'll kill me!" he cried. Salvatore, meanwhile, ran down the alley shouting, "Robbers, robbers!"

A resident called police, who took the four Chicago policemen and the two hoodlums into the Oak Park police station.

There, Battaglia said:

"Forget about the whole thing. I don't want any trouble over this. I don't want any ~~part~~ of those Chicago coppers."

SUBJECT: SAM BATTAGLIA, aka

[redacted] On 8/22/61, [redacted] and Officer [redacted]
Intelligence Unit, Chicago Police Department, advised as follows:

On 8/22/61, Officers [redacted] were attempting to place SAM BATTAGLIA, 1114 Ridgeland Avenue, Oak Park,

During the afternoon of 8/22/61 BATTAGLIA left his residence while being driven by his bodyguard-chauffeur ROCCO SALVATORE. A short time later the police surveillance apparently was detected and BATTAGLIA and SALVATORE came to a sudden stop in an alley in the vicinity of Elmwood and Division in Oak Park. BATTAGLIA got out of his car and ran back to the police car. He reached in and grabbed Officer [redacted] by the lapel of his coat and ordered him to get out of his car while cursing at him. Officer [redacted] alighted from his car and engaged in a fist fight with BATTAGLIA. A short time later BATTAGLIA pleaded with [redacted] not to hit him again.
During this fight Officer [redacted] kept ROCCO SALVATORE from joining into this fight and was shouting for the police claiming that these individuals were "robbers." A short time later Officers from the Oak Park Police Department came to the scene and ordered these individuals to the Oak Park Police Station. These individuals were interviewed by [redacted] complained to the Chicago police officer that they should have advised him that they were working in this area and was not pleased over the above incident which could have caused considerable publicity in Oak Park. [redacted] had considered filing an assault and battery charge against BATTAGLIA who claimed that he would file a civil rights complaint against the officers.

It was finally determined by the group to drop these charges and all were dismissed.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 10/4/61

An informant advised as follows:

[redacted] who is an officer of Local 755, International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Local 755), is the collection agent and intermediary for "the boys from the West Side", meaning the individuals who control the major crime activities in the Chicago area, relative to all convention and exhibition work.

b6
b7C

[redacted] answers to JOSEPH PAUL GLIMCO as does [redacted] of Local 25, Building Maintenance Employees Union, Chicago, Illinois, and [redacted]. National Maintenance, Incorporated, 543 West Madison, Chicago, Illinois, was set up either by or with the sanction of GLIMCO and the people he represents for the purpose of gaining control of all contracts for temporary labor wherein substantial sums of money are involved. [redacted] is in charge of National Maintenance and [redacted] is the person who handles most of the work.

b6
b7C

[redacted] is employed by [redacted] of McCormick Place, Chicago, Illinois, as the [redacted]. In this position, [redacted] employs regular janitors and contracts with temporary labor companies for work performed prior to, during and subsequent to exhibitions and other activities at McCormick Place. [redacted] contracts with National Maintenance for almost all the temporary labor needed at McCormick Place and gives a small amount of the work to Ready-Men, Incorporated, 166 West Washington, Chicago, Illinois. [redacted] collects $3.50 to $4.00 per hour per man for temporary laborers from McCormick Place and in turn pays the laborers the minimum pay wage required by law. The difference between the amount [redacted] collects and the amount paid to the laborers is split with [redacted] receiving fifty percent and the other half being given to [redacted] who in turn pays it over to GLIMCO. GLIMCO then must pay off the "West Side boys". In addition to the money received by [redacted] in the aforementioned set-up, [redacted] collects a ten percent commission from McCormick Place for his service of contracting the work.

[redacted] and another person whose name he does not now recall [redacted] a temporary labor contracting company known as All-Work which company they sold. [redacted] the building housing that company. [redacted] also [redacted] a company manufacturing dowlings.

b6
b7C

Ready-Men, Incorporated, is operated by [redacted] and this company controls all work involving temporary labor at the Navy Pier, Chicago, Illinois, and the Conrad Hilton Hotel, also Chicago. The work at Navy Pier is let by [redacted] Incorporated, and the work at the Conrad Hilton is let by Kay Drayage, which is [redacted]. The J & J Exhibitors Service, 2316 South Indiana, Chicago, is [redacted]. This firm uses Ready-Men almost exclusively. It is believed that [redacted] of this company, J & J Exhibitors.

b6
b7C

Alex Wasleff Building Maintenance Company, 542 South Dearborn, Chicago, Illinois, is "in" with [redacted] and handles most of the building maintenance work in Chicago which necessitates the contracting for temporary labor. This company is able to employ janitors for much less than union scale ($2.21 per hour) and by so doing can under bid legitimate bidders who are required to pay union scale.

b6
b7C

All of the firms mentioned herein in his opinion are required to pay [redacted] a large sum of money, about $10,000.00, to get "signed up with the union" and then must pay [redacted] about 50% of the net profit derived from collecting $3.50 to $4.00 per hour per man for temporary laborers who are paid $1.15 per hour instead of union scale. He has no factual information regarding these payments but believes these payments are made due to his experiences.

b6
b7C

He attempted to get permission from the "West Side boys" to supply men to the companies on which they exert control which companies include all companies involved in work connected with exhibitions, trade shows, and conventions in Chicago. He met with MURRAY HUMPHREYS and SAM "TEST" BATTAGLIA during the late Spring, 1959, for the aforementioned purpose. He was told that they would check into it and let him know. He was subsequently contacted by BATTAGLIA and told that the temporary labor in Chicago is all "sewed up" and they could not do anything for him. He had agreed to split the profits with them 50-50.

Just before Mc Cormick Place opened up, he asked BATTAGLIA if he could have the work there and was told that this work was all tied up also.

There is no question in his mind but that JOSEPH PAUL GLIMCO is behind National Maintenance. On one occasion he went to [] and asked him to have his, [], temporary laborers cash their checks in a bar which is in the vicinity of National Maintenance Corporation. [] told him he could not do this without "the OK". He then went to GLIMCO with the same request and GLIMCO asked him if he had talked to []. GLIMCO then placed a telephone call to [] at Mc Cormick Place, which call was returned by [] a few minutes later. The telephone conversation in his presence revealed [] did not want the checks cashed at that bar because he would learn too much about National Maintenance business. GLIMCO remarked that he already knows what is going on concerning National Maintenance activities. During the conversation GLIMCO asked [] where he bought paint. After [] replied, GLIMCO told him that from now on he, GLIMCO, would tell him where to buy paint.

b6
b7C

He has an interest in the above mentioned bar and if checks from National Maintenance were cashed at the bar, it would mean additional income for him.

The West Side boys are able to control the letting of contracts for temporary labor through the controls they have over the unions having jurisdiction over the work.

CG 92-914

He also owns and operates a horse breeding farm at Pingree, Illinois. The name of the farm is Free Meadows Stock Farm. While the farm is owned by BATTAGLIA, it is listed in the name of the [redacted].

The records of the CCC indicate that on October 10, 1960, the Intelligence Unit of the Chicago Police Department advised that BATTAGLIA is frequently seen in the company of a woman named [redacted] who resides at [redacted].

CG 924914

Criminal Record

The following narrative accounts and arrest record was received from the CCC. This report was obtained by them from the Chicago Police Department several years ago:

On December 13, 1923, [redacted] stole a Chrysler automobile in Chicago and a few days later were arrested downstate and returned to Chicago to answer for the offense. As set out in the criminal record of this individual, noted at the end of this memorandum, a No Bill on a charge of larceny was voted at the January, 1923 term of the Grand Jury of Cook County.

b6
b7C

The Evening American clip for October 9, 1930 reflects that SAM BATTAGLIA was being held as a suspect in the Jewel robbery of Mrs. WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON. Another woman tentatively identified BATTAGLIA as a man who had held her up a few months before and robbed her of $30,000. in jewels. Regarding the robbery of Mrs. THOMPSON, a Chicago Police Officer, acting as her chauffeur, picked out BATTAGLIA as one of the men who had covered him with a gun and had stolen his gun and star. A man by the name of WILLIAM CARR was also allegedly implicated in this case and a Tribune clip of October 11, 1930 had a photograph of both persons.

On November 18, 1930, BATTAGLIA was brought to trial in the Criminal Court on Indictment #53514 on a charge of robbery involving the theft of the gun and star of the Chicago Police Officer, acting as chauffeur for Mrs. THOMPSON, and the officer testified that BATTAGLIA and others, not identified, held him up as Mrs. THOMPSON was alighting from the automobile on the night of October 6, 1930, at which time BATTAGLIA took the officer's gun and his star. On November 19, 1930 the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

Evening American clip of December 1, 1930, indicates that the police were searching for SAM BATTAGLIA in the belief that he was the driver of a get-away car which fled from the vicinity of a restaurant of 816 West Randolph Street, at which place the police sprung a trap on information previously received that a holdup was to take place. Four persons were captured by the police in the restaurant, they being DANIEL CLEMENTI, JOSEPH CAPRINO, JOSEPH PUPILLI and PHILLIP EPSTEIN. A patron in the restaurant, one LEONARD SARNO, was killed during the progress of the shooting. There was no available information in the files to indicate why the police were searching for BATTAGLIA and no follow-up of information was contained in the files as to whether he was ever questioned concerning the affair at the restaurant.

The Evening American clip of December 15, 1930 reflects that SAM BATTAGLIA was charged with disorderly conduct on December 15, 1930 after having been held over the weekend by police and questioned in vain concerning a robbery of the State Bank of Clearing.

On June 19, 1931, SAM BATTAGLIA, age 25, JOHN FOLLER, age 25, and GEORGE SISK, age 25, were brought to trial on Indictment #61042 in Cook County on a charge of robbery, the facts being that allegedly on January 1, 1931, the three persons held up and shot two police officers in the C & O Restaurant, 509 South Clark Street, obtaining a revolver and cash; shooting one of the officers three times and shooting the other officer twice. The three defendants were found not guilty by a jury in the particular indictment and on May 17, 1932, the three defendants were brought to trial on remaining indictments deriving out of the case at which time they entered a plea of guilty to assault with a deadly weapon and each defendant was sentenced to serve one year in the House of Correction; the other indictments were stricken off with leave to reinstate.

On August 12, 1933, information in the files reflect that a Coroner's inquest concerning the killing of one JOHN FABILLO, age 30, who allegedly was shot by one TED VERCILIO at Polk and Locust Streets on August 10, 1933, the inquest jury rendered a verdict of murder and requested that TED VERCILIO and SAM BATTAGLIA be held for such charge. As indicated by the criminal record, the No Bill returned by the October, 1933 Grand Jury, on a murder charge, probably relates to this Coroner's inquest case.

CG 92-914

A Sun clip of April 15, 1946 reflects that Captain MARTIN MULLEN of the Chicago Police Department, issued orders to round up MARSHALL CAIFANO, "PATSY" CLAVANTI, SAM BATTAGLIA, DOMINIC and MICHAEL LESSANI and JOSEPH DE STEFANO for questioning in regard to the slaying of LOUIS J. ERIKO, a minor hoodlum in Chicago, found shot to death in his automobile on April 10, 1946. There was no indication that SAM BATTAGLIA was ever questioned concerning this matter.

A News clip of September 10, 1948 reflected that SAM BATTAGLIA and MARSHALL CAIFANO was doing a brick business in a handbook near Taylor and Loomis Streets.

A Tribune clip of March 25, 1951 relates to one LOU RANTULL of Los Angeles, known in Chicago as LOUIS "Cockeyed Louie" FRATTO, who appeared before the Kefauver Committee in Washington. The news article had to do with the recounting that FRATTO was a minor hoodlum in Chicago and was known as an associate of SAM BATTAGLIA and JOHN WOLEK.

The criminal record of BATTAGLIA as reflected by the Chicago Police Department records, is as follows:

III. ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES

Gambling.

According to the records of the Chicago Crime Commission, reviewed on October 20, 1961, there were numerous newspaper articles concerning SAMUEL BATTAGLIA's illegal activities and they are set forth as follows:

CG 92-914

The Chicago Daily Tribune dated January 19, 1955, featured an article concerning the policy racket in which the claim was made that on the West side, the former domain of BIG JIM MARTIN, the syndicate reportedly has five representatives, SAM GIANCANA, SAM BATTAGLIA, MARSHALL CIAFANO, LENNIE PATRICK and WILLIAM BLOCK, although the latter two are of lower stature.

The Chicago Daily Tribune dated August 15, 1960 carried an article indicating that the Casa Madrid gambling passed into the hands of SAM BATTAGLIA and MARSHALL CIAFANO several years ago and that ROCCO DE GRAZIO, former operator of the place and gambling boss, now merely collects rent, for the use of the place.

The Chicago Daily Tribune dated September 17, 1960 contained an article regarding policy operations on the West and near North sides of Chicago wherein it was stated they come under the direction of JACK CERONE, CHARLES NICOLETTI and SAM BATTAGLIA.

According to records of the CCC, ROCCO SALVATORE is chauffeur for BATTAGLIA and drives him to the stock farm at Pingree, Illinois almost every day early in the morning. The pair leave the farm and get to the Casa Madrid in Melrose Park, Illinois about 3:00 PM, where BATTAGLIA stays for about two and a half hours during which time he collects the receipts from the horsebook and takes them with him when he leaves, going either to his home in Oak Park, Illinois, or some other place with the money.

ROCCO DE GRAZIO is alleged to be getting $250.00 a week from BATTAGLIA, who had declared himself in as a partner in the gambling at the Casa Madrid.

Juice Racket

The Chicago Daily Tribune dated August 18, 1961, carried a story relating to a "kangaroo court" allegedly held at the Casa Madrid on debtors delinquent on usurious payments on loans to hoodlum loan sharks. The article stated the gambling at the Casa Madrid is operated by SAM BATTAGLIA and MARSHALL CAIFANO.

CG-92-914

The Chicago Daily News dated August 19, 1961 contained a story concerning the "juice" racket and states that SAM DE STEFANO is one of the biggest "juice" men in the Chicago area and the article listed others in the racket as JOSEPH DI VARCO, FELIX ALDERISIO, SAM BATTAGLIA, WILLIE DADDANO and LOUIS ERIATTA.

The Chicago American dated August 21, 1961 contained an article wherein it was stated that debtors who become delinquent to "juice" operators for large sums end up in a gangland court held in the basement of the Casa Madrid where SAM BATTAGLIA, top man in the syndicate, sits as "judge". If the court finds against the defendant, he usually receives a severe beating. For the warden on a loan, the penalty is death. The "juice" racket is second only to gambling as a lucrative source of income for the "mob".

IV. LEGAL ACTIVITIES

On May 3, 1961, [redacted] of the South End Tap, 1029 St. Charles Road, Elgin, Illinois, directed the writer to a horse farm which he advised belonged to SAM "TEETZ" BATTAGLIA, "a Melrose Park hoodlum". This horse farm, known as the Free Meadows Stock Farm, purports to be used for horse breeding. A sign at one end of this farm carries the name of this farm and the telephone number of Sherwood 1-4455, Pingree Grove, Illinois. The farm is completely encircled by a white wooden fence and [redacted], who is well acquainted with farms and acreage in that area, advised this particular farm would exceed 400 acres in size.

b6
b7C

The farm is located on Pingree Road and Highland Avenue in Elgin Township just west of Elgin, Illinois. The mail box adjacent to the house on this farm bears the name

CG 92-914

[REDACTED] There are over 100 head of horses on this farm according to [REDACTED] and some 60 head were personally observed on this date. Diagonally across from instant farm is the Maplehurst Farm [REDACTED] whose name appears on the mail box next to this property. Just North of this farm, but on the other side of Pingree Road on the same side of the road as the Free Meadows Stock Farm are farms [REDACTED] two well known brothers in that area.

[REDACTED] advised that the employees of this stock farm hang around a tavern in Pingree Grove, Illinois [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] At least six individuals who appeared to be employees of this farm were observed working on a stock fence in the rear of one of the horse sheds. In addition to the farm house which adjoins Pingree Road on this farm, there are several other buildings on both sides of the road. Across from the house is an area in which many railroad type posts are stored in piles and which are apparently used as fence posts. The white fence surrounding this farm appears to have been newly painted. Several automobiles, some very recent models, were observed parked in the rear of this house, but the license plates on these vehicles could not be determined as they cannot be seen from the road because the farm house and parking area are on a hill.

b6
b7C

CG T-1 on August 11, 1961, advised that the Tradewinds Restaurant, Rush Street, Chicago, is up for sale and that one [REDACTED] was handling the sale for his other partners, (FNU) [REDACTED]. He advised that [REDACTED] and the others were fronting in the ownership of the Tradewinds for OBBIE FRABOTTA, PHIL ALDERISIO and SAM "TEETZ" BATTAGLIA. He advised further that the Tradewinds will reopen and be known as the "Living Room" and will be [REDACTED]. He stated that [REDACTED] the restaurant known as the Living Room in New York City. He stated that [REDACTED] and his partners fronting for FRABOTTA, ALDERISIO and BATTAGLIA are attempting to purchase the resturant El Puccini in Hollywood, California, which is owned by FRANK SINATRA and DEAN MARTIN.

b7C

CG 92-914

The Chicago Daily Tribune dated March 15, 1961 carried an article concerning the Twin Food Products Company wherein it was stated that SAM BATTAGLIA, MARSHALL CAIFANO, FELIX ALDERISIO and ALBERT FRAZOTTA are stockholders in this company.

V. LABOR UNION ACTIVITIES

On September 27, 1961, CG T-2 advised that [redacted] who is an officer of Local 755, International Brotherhood of Teamsters (Local 755), is the collection agent and intermediary for "the boys from the West side", meaning the individuals who control the major crime activities in the Chicago area, relative to all convention and exhibition work.

[redacted] is in charge of National Maintenance and [redacted] is the person who handles most of the work.

[redacted] is employed by [redacted] of Mc Cormick Place, Chicago, Illinois, as the [redacted]. In this position, [redacted] employes regular janitors and contracts with temporary labor companies for work performed prior to, during and subsequent to exhibitions and other activities at Mc Cormick Place. [redacted] contracts with National Maintenance for almost all the temporary labor needed at Mc Cormick Place and gives a small amount of the work to Ready-Mon, Incorporated, 166 West Washington, Chicago, Illinois. [redacted] collects $3.50 to $4.00 per hour per man for temporary laborers from Mc Cormick Place and in turn pays the laborers the minimum pay wage required by law.

The difference between the amount [] collects and the amount paid to the laborers is split with [] and EURKE [] receiving fifty percent and the other half being given to [] who in turn pays it over to GLIMCO. GLIMCO then must pay off the "West side boys". In addition to the money received by [] in the aforementioned set up, [] collects a ten percent commission from Mc Cormick Place for his service of contracting the work.

[] and another person whose name he does not now recall owned and operated a temporary labor contracting company known as All-Work which company they sold. [] also owned the building housing that company. [] a company manufacturing dowlings.

Ready-Men, Incorporated, is [] and this company controls all work involving temporary labor at the Navy Pier, Chicago, Illinois, and the Conrad Hilton Hotel, also Chicago. The work at Navy Pier is [] Incorporated, and the work at the Conrad Hilton is bid by Kay Drayage, which is []. The J & J Exhibitors Service, 2316 South Indiana, Chicago, is [], also named []. This firm uses Ready-Men almost exclusively. It is believed that [] of this company, J & J Exhibitors.

Alex Wasloff Building Maintenance Company, 542 South Dearborn, Chicago, Illinois, is "in" with [] and handles most of the building maintenance work in Chicago which necessitates the contracting for temporary labor. This company is able to employ janitors for much less than union scale $2.21 per hour) and by so doing can under bid legitimate bidders who are required to pay union scale.

b6
b7C

All of the firms mentioned herein in his opinion are required to pay [] a large sum of money, about $10,000.00 to get "signed up with the union" and then must pay [] about 50% of the net profit derived from collecting $3.50 to $4.00 per hour per man for temporary laborers

b6
b7C

who are paid $1.15 per hour instead of union scale. He has no factual information regarding these payments but believes these payments are made due to his experiences.

He attempted to get permission from the "West side boys" to supply monies to the companies on which they exert control which companies include all companies involved in work connected with exhibitions, trade shows, and conventions in Chicago. He met with MURRAY HUMPHREYS and SAM "TEITZ" BATTAGLIA during the late Spring, 1959, for the aforementioned purpose. He was told that they would check into it and let him know. He was subsequently contacted by BATTAGLIA and told that the temporary labor in Chicago is all "sewed up" and they could not do anything for him. He had agreed to split the profits with them 50-50.

Just before McCormick Place opened up, he asked BATTAGLIA if he could have the work there and was told that this work was all tied up also.

There is no question in his mind but that JOSEPH PAUL GLIMCO is behind National Maintenance. On one occasion he went to [redacted] and asked him to have his, [redacted] temporary laborers cash their checks in a bar which is in the vicinity of National Maintenance Corporation. [redacted] told him he could not do this without "the OK". He then went to GLIMCO with the same request and GLIMCO asked him if he had talked to [redacted]. GLIMCO then placed a telephone call to [redacted] at McCormick Place, which call was returned by [redacted] a few minutes later. The telephone conversation in his presence revealed [redacted] did not want the checks cashed at that bar because he would learn too much about National Maintenance business. GLIMCO remarked that he already knows what is going on concerning National Maintenance activities. During the conversation, GLIMCO asked [redacted] where he bought paint. After [redacted] replied, GLIMCO told him that from now on he, GLIMCO, would tell him where to buy paint.

b6
b7C

CG 92-914

He has an interest in the above mentioned bar and if checks from National Maintenance were cashed at the bar, it would mean additional income for him.

The West side boys are able to control the letting of contracts for temporary labor through the controls they have over the unions having jurisdiction over the work.

SAM "TEETZ" BATTAGLIA, a crime syndicate hoodlum who fancies himself a bigshot, was fined $220.00 yesterday by Police Magistrate JAMES BELL in Bloomingdale on charges arising from a Memorial day outing.

Magistrate BELL found BATTAGLIA guilty of speeding, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and disobedience to a police officer. BATTAGLIA, 53, of 1114 North Ridgeland Avenue, Oak Park, was driving a convertible automobile, and was accompanied by an expensively dressed woman.

Chief GEORGE MUELLER and Sergeant RICHARD LOY of the Bloomingdale Police chased BATTAGLIA for a mile. When he was curbed at Lake Street and Bloomfield Road, he cursed the policemen, called them "keystones," and refused to show his drivers license. He was locked up for an hour while charges were brought against him.

The Chicago Daily Tribune dated August 23, 1961 carried an article with the heading "Cop Discovers a 'Tough' Hood Has Glass Jaw". This article read as follows:

Battaglia Tangos in an Alley - and Loses

The reputation of SAM "TEETZ" BATTAGLIA, 53, as one of Chicago's toughest gangsters was exploded yesterday as a myth. A Chicago Police Sergeant, FRANCIS NASH, did it with one punch.

It all began when NASH and three other detectives in the Chicago Police Intelligence Squad set out to look over a mob conference in the home of SAM "MOONEY" GIANCANA, a gang chief, at 1147 South Wenonah Avenue, Oak Park, Illinois.

This meeting was said to have been arranged by GIANCANA to discuss measures to head off police investigations of eight recent gang murders which have been linked with the mob's loan sharks.

CG 92-914

Meeting Is Adjourned

The meeting was in adjournment by the time NASH and his partners, Detectives JOHN ZITEK, MAURICE GUERIN and FRANK KENNY, arrived at GIANCANA's residence. So, the policemen checked a few suburban gang hangouts and then headed back to Chicago thru Oak Park.

In Oak Park, near BATTAGLIA's home at 1114 Ridgeland Avenue, BATTAGLIA and his driver, ROCCO SALVATORE, a juke box racketeer, spotted the Chicago Police squad. The hoodlums sped off in their automobiles, with the detectives in pursuit. The chase went at high speed for a mile until SALVATORE slammed his car to a stop in an alley near Elmwood Avenue and Division Street in Oak Park. NASH's squad was close behind.

Out of the car came BATTAGLIA. He cursed NASH, attempted to tear his shirt, and challenged him to a fight. The gangster attacked with two wild haymakers, which missed. Then NASH pushed him away with a light left jab.

"Don't Hit Me!"

At once BATTAGLIA, who outweighed NASH by 20 pounds, announced that he had overmatched himself.

"Don't hit me, don't hit me again, you'll kill me!" he cried. SALVATORE, meanwhile, ran down the alley shouting, "Robbers, robbers!"

A resident called police, who took the four Chicago Policemen and the two hoodlums into the Oak Park police station.

There, BATTAGLIA said:

"Forget about the whole thing. I don't want any trouble over this. I don't want any part of those Chicago coppers."

CHICAGO CRIME MOB EXTENDS RULE TO ELGIN

Bookie Flourishes Openly in Suburb

An outpost of the Chicago crime syndicate was flourishing in Elgin yesterday, less than three blocks from police headquarters.

It was a horse betting parlor run by James L. Traub, in the rear room of a pool hall at 123 Douglas av., in the suburb. Traub, boss of the largest handbook in Elgin, Kane county, is not given to the secrecy adopted by his fellow bookmakers in Cook county after new federal legislation outlawed the bookie race results service.

Fast Phone Service

Traub has no lookouts. His door is wide open. The horse players walk past the pool tables to the betting room, where Traub uses racing scratch sheets as wall cards.

His book receives up to the minute race results by telephone from a crime syndicate service in Melrose Park, the stronghold of Sam "Teetz" Bataglia, reputed executioner for the mob.

The Chicago crime syndicate has fastened a hold on rackets in northern Kane county, including Elgin, thru handbooks operated by Traub and other gamblers.

In return for the race results service and the layoff-sharing the risk—of heavy wagers, the Chicago mob takes a slice off the top of the Kane county gambling.

He Is Friendly

Traub is a friendly bookie, unlike most syndicate betting men. His handbook has a horney atmosphere—his daughter runs in to say hello to him on her way home from school.

He greeted a reporter with a big grin and, with no questions, accepted a $5 bet on Wing Mighty in the 9th race at Narragansett Park, R. I. The horse ran out as Traub explained how, in downtown Elgin, he runs a bookie joint openly.

"There's no heat out here," he said. "The police don't come around often."

Buys Federal Stamp

Traub and his handbook should be well known to authorities in Elgin. For most of the last eight years, he has held federal wagering stamps issued to bookies by the government, which collects a 10 per cent tax on handbook bets. On his 1961 wagering stamp, he listed his address as 208 Hill st., Elgin.

Gamblers in and near Elgin were brought into the crime syndicate orbit four years ago when Rocco Branno, an ex-convict terrorist, spearheaded a mob invasion of Kane county.

Chief NESTOR stated BATTAGLIA's personal chauffeur continues to be ROCCO SALVATORE, former jukebox racketeer, who resides at 1620 North Merrimac, Oak Park, Illinois.

Relatives

On February 19, 1962, CG T-3, advised that SAM BATTAGLIA has the following living relatives:

BATTAGLIA is married to ANGELA SICILIANO. They have a [redacted] born [redacted] [redacted] married [redacted] MICHAEL X. GAGLIANO on [redacted] a psychopath and has the mentality of a 13 year old. He can usually be seen in the vicinity of State and Chestnut Streets in Chicago, and in and out of the La Bistro, Kismet, Tradewinds, and the Playboy Club. His closest associates are MARSHALL CAIFANO and FELIX ALFARISIO. He is a convicted bank robber and burglar and has been suspected of numerous gang killings in the past years.

CG 02-014

SAN GIANCANA

SAN GIANCANA is also known as SAN "HOCKEY" GIANCANA. He is described as the number one man in the syndicate hierarchy of Chicago.

ROCCO DI CRAZIO

DI CRAZIO was considered for many years as the head of all gambling and vice in Melrose Park, Illinois. He has been associated with syndicate activity since the days of AL CAPONE. His base of operation is the Civic Madrid, 25th and Lake Street, Melrose Park, Illinois, which is described as one of the largest gambling and horse book parlors in Cook County. As reported elsewhere in this report DI CRAZIO has been disposed of his operations by SAN BATTAGLIA.

III. ILLEGAL ACTIVITIES

On February 20, 1968, CG T-3, advised that SAN BATTAGLIA is considered the most sinister and menacing of the "young bloods" who are replacing TONY ACCAMO and ROCCO DI CRAZIO, heirs of the late AL CAPONE. He reportedly plans extensions for the syndicate. The "young bloods" are composed of SAN "HOCKEY" GIANCANA, "SKIPPY" CERONE, "SICKES" ALOISIO, MARSHALL CAIFANO, WILLIAM "POTATO" DALMAZO, and CHARLES "CHICK" ENGLISH. According to CG T-3, it has been said that if and when TONY ACCAMO is sent to prison for income tax evasion, it is considered that BATTAGLIA will be an assistant to SAN "HOCKEY" GIANCANA, who will reportedly take over control of the syndicate in the Chicago area.

CG 92-914

BATTAGLIA and MARSHALL CAIFANO have already taken over the control of horse betting at the Casa Madrid in Melrose Park, Illinois. ROCCO DE GRAZIO, the owner of the Casa Madrid, is only the landlord. BATTAGLIA and CAIFANO pay rent to DE GRAZIO and give him a piece of the "action" that takes place during the night at the Casa Madrid, such as card games, roulette, and so forth.

According to CG T-3 the Casa Madrid is the headquarters of BATTAGLIA. He controls all gambling in Melrose Park, Elmwood Park, Bellwood, Stone Park, Franklin Park, and Schiller Park, Illinois, from the Casa Madrid. He and SAM GIANCANA control the policy on the West Side of Chicago. BATTAGLIA has been mentioned as one of the top syndicate members who taxes narcotics pushers such as [redacted] for the privilege of doing business. It has been said not a single dope transaction is made from which somewhere along the line the syndicate does not receive a tribute.

The following newspaper articles appeared in local Chicago papers concerning the police raid at the Casa Madrid, 171 25th Street, Melrose Park, Illinois, on September 23, 1961:

The following article appeared in the September 24, 1961, edition of "The Chicago American", entitled "Police Raid Casa Madrid", "Seize 12, Gambling Equipment":

"State's attorney's police and two state troopers yesterday smashed thru several steel doors in the notorious Casa Madrid, 171 25th Avenue, Melrose Park, arrested 12 persons on gaming charges, and seized gambling equipment.

About 125 patrons in the place were allowed to leave after they had given their names. Some were asked to identify the persons with whom they had placed bets.

Among those taken to the Oak Park police station to be photographed and fingerprinted, before being removed to Broadview for the filing of charges, was Rocco De Grazio, crime syndicate gambling chief.

CG 92-914

Seized near a stairway leading to the second floor, De Grazio denied his identity until he was recognized by one of the raiders.

De Grazio protested: "I'm not doing anything. I'm just going upstairs to my apartment where I live."

Also arrested was De Grazio's righthand man, Joseph (Bags) Battaglia, 45 of 500 Winston Drive, Melrose Park.

The raid was led by Roswell Spencer, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, after several of his men had gone into the place, posing as patrons. They observed gambling in progress.

Spencer then went to Police Magistrate Philip Romiti in Hillside and obtained two search warrants. One was for the tavern on the Lake Street side of the building and the other for the gambling room on the 25th Street side.

Spencer's men surrounded the building and smashed the door to gain entrance.

In the large gambling room were the 125 patrons, including a few women, either playing poker or betting on horse races.

Another group of raiders entered the bar room, where they found 20 patrons and a bartender, Angelo Prete, Jr., 32, of 2359 18th Avenue, Broadview. Prete was arrested.

Agents smashed open several closets leading to storerooms and an expensively furnished office. In one closet they found two slot machines.

In the office they found liquor and boxes of dice. On a desk was a loaded .38 caliber revolver. The drawers of the desk yielded a .38 caliber pistol mounted on a .45 frame; a loaded .33 caliber automatic, and a bag containing two sets of handcuffs and keys.

CG 92-914

In another closet the raiders found a large safe. In the gambling room they found a second safe marked with a sign 'Time-locked. Tear-gas'.

Under the safe was a metal box containing about $400.

Others arrested are:

Robert Jehrke, 76, of 137 11th Avenue, Melrose Park; James Guarino, 62, of 818 N. 8th Avenue, Maywood, said by police to be 'custodian' of the Casa Madrid; William Scudier, 34, who gave his address as Bloomingdale, Illinois; Louis DeTrain, 60, of 918 N. 21st Avenue, Melrose Park; Rocco Salvatore, 50, of 5418 Congress Street, an uncle by marriage of Battaglia; Sophie Marshall, 62, of 5342 N. Spaulding Avenue, who said she served coffee and sandwiches in the place; Alphonse J. Liccairdo, 38, of 1520 Morris Avenue, Berkeley; Ira Kevin, 49, of 4706 N. St. Louis Avenue, and Joseph Alessi, 39, of 1319 N. 23rd Avenue, Melrose Park.

The Casa Madrid, despite periodic raids by state, county, and local police, and despite almost continuous surveillance by various Federal agencies, has been one of the nation's largest and most notorious gambling spots and has poured millions of dollars into syndicate coffers.

That place, and the adjacent Lumber Gardens with which it is connected by tunnel, were built by De Grazia 15 years ago.

In the past, operations were moved from one building to another thru the tunnel whenever a raid was expected.

Despite wide open gambling, reported almost monthly by the Chicago Crime Commission to Melrose Park police and to the sheriff's office--and periodically detailed in the newspapers with pictures--the spot has seldom shut down. Failure to discover that gambling was in operation there--a half mile from the police station--cost a Melrose Park police chief his job a few years back.

CG C2-DIA

The extent of the "take" accruing to the mob from the spot was illustrated in a story written for "Chicago's American" earlier this year by Richard B. Ogilvie, former special assistant United States Attorney who secured the conviction of boss gangster Tony Accardo for evading income taxes.

Ogilvie wrote he was told by a doctor that he had lost $50,000 in the place at the gambling tables. The physician said he was paying the debt in installments under the threat by the mobster to murder his young son.

De Grazio's crime record dates back to 1915, beginning with petty offenses, but during the days of prohibition he was known as the foremost lieutenant of Al Capone.

He has been questioned and investigated in numerous federal probes.

Perhaps his first appearance on the police blotter was in 1914 when he was sentenced to Pentridge Penitentiary for robbery. He was paroled in 1915. Also on record is one year in the Bridewall for robbery in 1925; seven years in Joliet for assault to rob from 1929 to 1935; and 18 months in Leavenworth and a fine of $1,000 in 1935 for income tax evasion."

The following article appeared in the "Chicago Daily Tribune" dated September 25, 1931, captioned "Hope To Find Mob Record in Seized Cafe":

"State's attorney's police hope that a 5 foot high safe, seized Saturday in a raid on a gambling center in the rear of the Casa Madrid, 25th Avenue and Lake Street in Melrose Park, will yield crime syndicate records when it is opened today,

Detwiler T. Spencer, chief investigator for the state's attorney said that an expert locksmith will be brought in to open the safe, which is reported to be one of the hardest types to open. Meanwhile, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is checking the fingerprints of 11 persons arrested in the raid and is making ballistics checks on two pistols from which the serial numbers had been filed.

Among those arrested was Rocco De Grazia, 63, owner of the building and reputed gambling kingpin in the suburb until being pushed aside by syndicate representatives from Chicago. He and the others arrested will appear before Justice of the Peace Nathan Hoffberg in Broadview October 4."

The following article appeared in the "Chicago Daily Tribune" dated September 26, 1961, captioned "Safes Seized in Casa Madrid Yield $17,674":

"Roswell T. Spencer, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, disclosed yesterday that a total of $17,674 was confiscated by his detectives in a raid Saturday on a crime syndicate gambling center in the Casa Madrid, 25th Avenue and Lake Street, in Melrose Park.

Spencer said the money was found in two safes seized in the raid, in which 11 persons, including Rocco De Grazia, former gambling kingpin in the area, were arrested.

One of the safes was found ajar when state's attorney's police, aided by state troopers, forced their way into the gaming room. The other was opened yesterday at the city auto pound at 30th Street and California Avenue.

State's Attorney Daniel P. Ward said that he would summon Police Chief Anthony Iosco of Melrose Park and Chester M. Carson, village president, to 'remind them that it is their responsibility to see that gambling does not go on out there.'

Meanwhile, Mrs. Pauline Rozanski, 53, admitted that she and her husband, Leo, 55, are the owners of the Will County picnic grove in which the crime syndicate's floating dice game ran unmolested for almost two years.

CG 92-914

The dice game, housed on the first floor of a two story building in the JJ picnic grove on route 7 East of Lockport, was shut down Friday as the result of an investigation by 'Tribune' reporters. As much as $250,000 a night reportedly passed over the tables while the game was in operation.

Mrs. Rozanski said she and her husband live on the second floor of the building, but that she had not been on the first floor since she 'rented it out' in the fall of 1959.

'I don't know what they do down there,' she said, 'I can't even get into the place myself.'

Ward said that the presence of the big dice game in Will County 'is an indication that gamblers are beginning to feel the pressure of our crackdown on gambling in Cook County.'

The game formerly operated in Cicero, but moved out in 1959, after a raid by investigators of Former State's Atty. Benjamin S. Adamowski. It reportedly was merged with games from south suburban clubs when it was moved."

The following article appeared in the "Chicago American" dated September 26, 1961, captioned "County Fights for $144,088 Seized in 3 Suburban Raids":

"The state's attorney's office is fighting to keep crime syndicate hoodlums from getting back $144,088 confiscated in three suburban gambling raids. The raids were conducted by state's attorney's police at:

Casa Madrid, 171 25th Avenue, Melrose Park, $17,674 — last Saturday.

Sam Ariola's home, 9759 Franklin Avenue, Franklin Park, $37,130 — September 8.

CG 92-914

A tavern at 4610 Cermak Road, Cicero, $89,284 -- September 5, 1959.

Edward Egan, first assistant state's attorney, yesterday filed a petition for a rehearing before the Illinois Supreme court on the court's decision Friday ordering the state's attorney to relinquish the money seized in the 1959 Cicero raid.

The high court ruled that the state's attorney's office had erred in not filing a record of the County court proceedings with its appeal. In County court last year, acting County Judge John M. Karns, ruled that the state had not proved that the money seized was contraband. He ordered it returned to Rocco Fischetti, syndicate gambler, and his associates.

Egan blamed the error on members of former State's Attorney Benjamin S. Adamowski's staff.

The money taken from Ariola, another crime syndicate gambler, is being held for the Internal Revenue Service. Federal Agents are seeking to determine if Ariola owes the Government any back taxes on his income.

Detectives led by Roswell T. Spencer, chief investigator for State's Attorney Daniel P. Ward, discovered the hoard of currency, mostly in $500 and $100 dollar bills, stuffed in a brief case in Ariola's 5 room Franklin Park apartment.

Ariola has not sought to recover it.

Also unclaimed is the $17,674 seized by Spencer's men at the Casa Madrid restaurant and lounge. Income tax agents intend to question anyone who seeks to retrieve the money thru court action.

Rocco De Gruzie, another syndicate hoodlum, was arrested in the Casa Madrid raid, but denies being the operator of the gambling establishment. He and 11 others were charged with being keepers of a handbook for appearance October 4, before Justice of the Peace Nathan Hoffberg in Broadview.

CG 92-914

Lawrence Genesen, assistant state's attorney in charge of Ward's anti-gambling and anti-vice unit, will seek indictments against De Grazio and the 11 others.

Meanwhile, Ward said he would inform Chester M. Carson, Melrose Park village president, and Police Chief Anthony Iosco of their responsibility to suppress gambling. He said he will ask Carson and Iosco to confer with him in his office on gambling and vice in Melrose Park.

The following article appeared in the "Chicago American" dated September 30, 1961, captioned "Casa Madrid Liquor Revocation Sought":

Assistant State's Attorney Lawrence Genesen, head of the anti-gambling and vice unit, said today he is preparing to ask for revocation of the liquor license of the Casa Madrid night club in Melrose Park.

When the new Cook County grand jury convenes next week, he said he will ask for indictments naming Rocco (Gramps) De Grazio and others, as keepers of a gaming house. Penalties range from 1 year in prison and $1,00 fine or both.

When the suburban gambling spot at 25th Avenue and Lake Street was raided last week by state's attorney's police, De Grazio, a former gambling boss in the area, was arrested. He said he was the landlord. Twelve persons were arrested by the raiders.

Investigators are puzzled why nobody has claimed $23,000 found in two safes confiscated in the raid. It is believed De Grazio doesn't want to claim the money, as he contends he is the club's landlord, and not the owner.

State's Attorney Daniel P. Ward and his first assistant, Edward J. Egan, yesterday called in Melrose Park President Chester M. Carson, and the suburb's police chief, Anthony Iosca and asked them to revoke the Casa Madrid's liquor license.

CG 92-914

Carson denied knowledge of gambling in the Casa Madrid, but said he would study Ward's recommendation.

In the last few months Ward and Egan have ordered officials of Cicero and other suburban communities to pay them a visit. Each time the officials were read state statutes informing them of their responsibilities to enforce the law."

On February 19, 1962, Chief of Police FREMONT NESTOR, Oak Park, Illinois, advised the Casa Madrid in Melrose Park, Illinois, has been closed down completely since the raid by State's Attorney's Police, in September of 1961.

Chicago report dated 2-15-61 by SA [redacted] captioned "SAMUEL M. GIANCANA, Aka." reflects the following information.

b6
b7C

SAM BATTAGLIA was listed as an "Associate" of GIANCANA's.

Officer [REDACTED] Chicago Police Department, Intelligence Unit, on 12-12-60, furnished to SA [REDACTED] information pertaining to an investigation recently conducted by the Intelligence Unit regarding SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA. On 8-25-60, officers of the Intelligence Unit ascertained that SAM BATTAGLIA has a race horse farm located in Poplar Grove, Illinois, which is about thirteen miles west of Elgin, Illinois. The name of the farm is Free Meadows Stock Farm, Horse Breeders, listed to the [REDACTED] whose name is [REDACTED]. The officers made a pretext call to this farm and ascertained that SAM BATTAGLIA on 8-25-60, was in Pennsylvania but would return to the farm on 8-27-60. It was mentioned that ROCCO SALVATORE was the chauffeur for BATTAGLIA and was at the farm on 8-24-60. BATTAGLIA at that time was allegedly in Pennsylvania for the purpose of attending a Little League Baseball game in which his son was participating.

b6
b7C

The pretext call also ascertained that ROCCO SALVATORE drives BATTAGLIA to this farm almost every day in the early morning hours and they both return to the Casa Madrid in Melrose Park, Illinois, where they remain for about two and a half hours during which time BATTAGLIA checks up the daily receipts of gambling at that establishment and then proceeds to his home in Oak Park, Illinois. According to Officer [REDACTED] BATTAGLIA still resides at 114 North Ridgeland Avenue in Oak Park.

b6
b7C

Detective [REDACTED] advised that on 10-10-60, BATTAGLIA was observed with one [REDACTED] in a 1960 Maroon Oldsmobile bearing 1960 Illinois license [REDACTED]. Officer [REDACTED] said that he had learned that this person is the [REDACTED] BATTAGLIA and resides at [REDACTED]. Her occupation is [REDACTED]

Officer [redacted] continued that on 10-10-60, he observed BATTAGLIA and [redacted] depart the Casa Madrid Lounge at 25th Avenue and Lake Street in Melrose Park and proceeded to BATTAGLIA's horse farm mentioned above. Officer [redacted] said that a notation in his records reveals that the automobile registration to [redacted] under the name of [redacted] was observed in front of the North Avenue Steak House located at 8500 West North Avenue, Maywood, Illinois.

b6
b7C

Officer [redacted] said that he learned on 11-28-60, from a confidential source that SAM BATTAGLIA had informed ROCCO DEGRAZIA that he, BATTAGLIA, was the new partner at the Casa Madrid and that DEGRAZIA was relegated to the status of receiving $250 per week.

PCI stated that shortly before 12-16-60, [redacted] told him that he was going to spend the next Sunday, which would have been 12-18-60, at the farm of SAM BATTAGLIA near Elgin. [redacted] advised PCI that BATTAGLIA's associates were interested in taking over the Gate of Horn Restaurant on the Near North Side of Chicago and that they were going to put rooms in the basement which would not be contained on any floor plans.

92-371-238 p.2

The "Chicago Daily Tribune", three star sports final edition, dated 1-9-61, p.3, col. 1, part I, contained an article captioned "Mob Moves in on Shortening Business Here" -- "Hoodlum Salesmen Aid One Dealer".

This article reflected that the multi-million dollar business in shortening products in Chicago has long been highly competitive, but a surly, dark haired man has found ways of being unusually successful in the little time he has been in the business,

LEO RUGENDORF, 46, has found his business booming since his company began to employ as "salesmen" a team of top ranking syndicate hoodlums, such as SAM BATTAGLIA and MARSHALL CAIFANO. RUGENDORF's competitors lost a number of customers almost overnight, with little or no explanation for the change in patronage.

An attempt by a Tribune reporter to interview RUGENDORF in his office on the second floor of the Twin Food Products Company, 3250 Wentworth Avenue, brought a snarl and the declaration that "we have nothing to discuss."

BATTAGLIA, a salesman for the Twin Food Products Company, also is known as a buyer for the P. & S. By-products Company, which purchases meat by-products used in the manufacturing of commercial shortening.

92-371-239

The "Chicago Daily Tribune", three star sports final edition dated 1-10-61, p.18, col. 3, part I, contained an article captioned "Peterson Hits Mob's Move on Food Business" -- "Police Tell of Keeping Eye on Gang".

This article contained the following information:

The crime syndicate's move into the food industry in Chicago was termed dangerous and deplorable by VIRGIL PETERSON, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission.

"One of the most serious problems in this country has been organized crime's illegal and illegitimate activities but now with their exploitation of legitimate enterprises it becomes even more serious", PETERSON said.

PETERSON said he was referring to an article in Monday's Tribune in which it was revealed that crime syndicate hoodlums have been busy pushing the product of a food shortening company which is controlled by LEO RUGENDORF, 46, an associate of gangsters.

Some of the most powerful gangsters have been "working" as "salesmen" for the Twin Food Products Company, 3250 W entworth Avenue, it was revealed. They include MARSHALL CAIFANO, SAM BATTAGLIA, and PHILIP ALDERISIO.

26-34931-19 p.3

On May 26, 1961, [redacted] was interviewed at the House of Correction.
Chicago, by SAs [redacted]

b6
b7C

[redacted] as per his request made to the United States Marshal's Office.

It is to be noted that [redacted] has been in custody at the State Penitentiary, Joliet, Illinois, or at Menard and Pontiac, Illinois, continuously from December 19, 1950, until discharged at the expiration of his sentence, January 13, 1961, a period of over 11 years.

[redacted] years of age and has spent nearly 20 years of his life in custody in some institution. It is further to be noted that while in custody [redacted] has attempted suicide, been involved in attempted jail breaks and has received psychiatric examinations on several occasions being a continual source of trouble while in custody.

b6
b7C

He was arrested 2-20-61, by the Newcastle, Indiana Police Department, subsequently being charged with Federal charge of ITSMV, escaping 3-20-61, by assuming another persons identity; and was again arrested in Chicago by the Chicago Police Department 5-11-61, for shoplifting.

[redacted] stated that he would be able to furnish positive information that would enable the FBI to convict two of the top hoodlums in the Chicago area and wanted to know if this information would be of sufficient value to the FBI to obtain some kind of a "deal" regarding his pending charges.

b6
b7C

[redacted] was advised by SA [redacted] that

26-34931-19 (cont'd.)

no "deal" of any kind could be made with him, in any way whatsoever, this was completely out of the jurisdiction of the agents as to any sentence or treatment he might receive on his pending charges. [redacted] was further told that it appeared impossible in view of the length of time he had been in custody and the short period of time he had been released, that he would be in possession of any information that would be of value in convicting the type of individuals he indicated. [redacted] advised the persons he could furnish information on as a "deal" were SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA and JOEY AIUPPA. [redacted] stated that he knew the nephew of BATTAGLIA, [redacted] who he stated [redacted] the Cotton Club in Cicero and met through [redacted] who he claimed had worked with BATTAGLIA. [redacted] stated he was released from the State Penitentiary at Joliet, Illinois, on 1-13-61, and met [redacted] 1-16-61, and that he immediately started work for SAM BATTAGLIA and JOEY AIUPPA, transporting women from Kentucky to Illinois at $200 each.

b6
b7C

SA [redacted] told [redacted] that his story appeared to be purely fiction and that regardless of any information he might have, no "deal" whatsoever could be made. The position of the interviewing Agents was repeatedly explained to [redacted] that any information he had would be reported but that no promises of any nature whatsoever could be made.

PCI [redacted] was contacted on 12-26-60, 1-23-61 and 1-24-61 by SA [redacted].

company owner, "Milwaukee Phil" ALDERISIO, [REDACTED] OBBIE FRABOTTA and SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA. He advised that they operate a juice business and rendering business from the address and that [REDACTED] over and above the bond business and insurance business, deals in hot merchandise particularly jewelry.

b6
b7C

92-466-631 p.4,5

During February, 1961, SA [REDACTED] had occasion to meet, on a social basis, a [REDACTED] Deerfield, Illinois, [REDACTED] the City Plumbing and Heating Company, 6950 Higgins Road, Chicago. [REDACTED] advised that he is a [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] in the 45th Ward of Chicago. He described [REDACTED] as having, at one time, the most lucrative independent bookmaking operation in the area, under the protectorate of CHARLES WEBER, Alderman of that ward. WEBER died recently and as a result, [REDACTED] has been hounded by Syndicate gamblers to either retire or go into partnership with them. These overtures have been refused by [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] agreed to have SA [REDACTED] interview [REDACTED] in the near future.

b6
b7C

On 3-21-61, SA [REDACTED] received a phone call from [REDACTED] stating that [REDACTED] had been the victim of a vicious beating by two or three unknown persons, outside of his home, [REDACTED] and was recuperating at Resurrection Hospital. [REDACTED] indicated that his brother was angry enough at that point to "do some talking", and arranged for SA [REDACTED] to interview him when released from the hospital. On 3-27-61, SA [REDACTED] accompanied by [REDACTED] interviewed [REDACTED] at his home, [REDACTED].

b6
b7C

By way of background as to possible reasons for the beating, [REDACTED] advised that he has been in the bookmaking business in Chicago for over thirty years, and said that he was probably the closest person in Chicago to the late Alderman of the 45th Ward, CHARLES WEBER. He handled all gambling activities for WEBER on a 50-50 basis. He said that WEBER was definitely controlled by the "Syndicate", however, due to his influence with powerful persons, and a long-time association with MURRAY HUMPHREYS, TONY ACCARDO, JAKE GUZIK and others, WEBER and [redacted] were not pressured by Syndicate people to contribute to the gambling tills. About five or six years ago, however, [redacted] noted that "young bloods" with the Syndicate began encroaching on his territory, and gradually took the majority of the business away, leaving him only with his old time customers.

b6
b7c

When asked about the present status of ACCARDO, [redacted] said that "BATTERS" and he have known each other for years, and he has the greatest respect for ACCARDO, since all the years that ACCARDO was in a position of prominence, he was not bothered by him for a cut of the books. He noted, however, that shortly after World War II, the so-called "young bloods", such as SAM BATTLA, FRABOTTA, CAIFANO, et al, began moving in and exerting pressure on all independent bookmakers, so that his territory in the 45th Ward began shrinking to the point where he controlled only the west end of the Sheffield Avenue District. The east end of the district was taken over by [redacted]

b6
b7c

He related a list of individuals who were in control of gambling in the various Police Districts.

MARSHALL CAIFANO, contrary to opinion of most, is in partnership with SAM BATTAGLIA on the West Side.

92-349-565 p.2

On 2-1-61 [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that he recently was the Defense Attorney for [redacted], who was recently found guilty on a Federal Narcotics charge in USDC in Chicago, Illinois.

b6

b7D

According to [redacted], an admitted underworld figure, SAMUEL M. GIANCANA is the top man of the Chicago Crime Syndicate, having taken over from ANTHONY ACCARDO about four years ago. GIANCANA's number one lieutenant is SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA, a prominent West Side hoodlum.

92-466-597 p.2

On 2-9-61 [redacted] was contacted by SA [redacted] at which time he advised as follows:

Informant advised on 2-9-61 that he has been approached by SAM BATTAGLIA, [redacted] [redacted] who are interested in forming a company to install and test fire alarm systems. It has been indicated to informant that this company will have offices throughout the country and that among their accounts will be schools. The CI stated that he intends to ask for a weekly salary of $250.00 plus 30% of the profits of the company and in return will operate as a general manager. He stated, however, that he does not believe that he will be able to demand 30% of the profits but intends to ask for this figure in order to be in a position to compromise.

The first big social event of the Chicago crime syndicate winter season was to take place Saturday. It was the wedding of ROSS PRIO's daughter.

A Tribune reporter peeked over a lawyer's shoulder in Circuit Court "yesterday" and saw proof of crime syndicate dominance of the Twin Food Products Company, 3250 Wentworth Avenue. This precipitated a courtroom uproar.

What the reporter saw in the minutes of a company meeting January 3, when Bail Bondsman IRWIN S. WEINER was elected president, was part of the list of stockholders who voted for WEINER.

This stockholders' list included SAM (TEETZ) BATTAGLIA, MARSHALL CAIFANO, PHIL (MILWAUKEE PHIL) ALDERISIO and ALBERT (OBIE) FRABOTTA, all important leaders of the crime syndicate. The minutes had been subpoenaed and JULIAN WILAMOSKI, acting Circuit Court Judge, is hearing a suit seeking to force the city to issue a rendering license to the company. The company was closed by the city January 31 after mysteriously being permitted to operate for four years, although a rendering license repeatedly was denied it.

The reporter's peeking was cut short when GEOGER CRANE and MORRIS NATHANSON, Twin Food attorneys, noticed that the reporter, behind PARLEE in a jury box, was studying the document.

"Veteran detectives believe most of the murders stem from the crime syndicate's profitable loan business. One detective said:

"Most of the victims in recent years, including ART ADLER, were murdered because they were losers in the juice game.

"One of the mob's biggest areas for juice in Cicero, where gambling, for the most part, runs unhampered by local law enforcement.

"Boss of that highly profitable territory is FRANK (CALICO KID) TEUTONICA.

"Anyone seeking a juice loan of more than $5,000, police say, is sent to see SAM DE STEFANO of 1656 N. Sayre Avenue, one of the overlords of the business.

FROM : SAC, NEW YORK (92-2404) (RUC)

Rerep SA [redacted] dated 5/18/62,

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted] 5/31/62:

[redacted] Documentation Section, TWA, Idlewild Airport, NYC, advised that a review of passenger information lists for European flights for 4/7 through 16/62, fails to reflect the name of the subject as a passenger.

[redacted]
TWA, Idlewild Airport, advised that the passenger information list reflects the list of advance reservations and does not necessarily reflect a true manifest of the flight. If an individual shows at flight time and there is seat space he would be taken aboard and his name probably would not show on the passenger information list. The accurate record or manifest of a flight would be located in the general accounting office of TWA at Kansas City, Missouri. [redacted] further stated that TWA flight Number 800 is a direct flight from Chicago to Europe and a Chicago passenger would more likely use this flight.

b6

A review of Immigration and Naturalization Service form I-94 for overseas departures from Idlewild Airport from 4/7 through 10/62, failed to reflect name of subject.

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted] on May 31, 1962, at New York:

[redacted] Documentation Section,
Trans World Airlines (TWA), Idlewild Airport, New York City, advised that a review of passenger information lists for European flights for April 7 to 10, 1962, fails to reflect the name of the subject as a passenger.

b6 per FBI
b7C

TWA, Idlewild Airport, advised that the passenger information list reflects the list of advance reservations and does not necessarily reflect a true manifest of the flight. If an individual shows at flight time and there is seat space he would be taken aboard and his name probably would not show on the passenger information list. The accurate record or manifest of a flight would be located in the General Accounting Office of TWA at Kansas City, Missouri. [redacted] further stated that TWA flight number 800 is a direct flight from Chicago to Europe and a Chicago passenger would more likely use this flight.

b6 per FBI

A review of Immigration and Naturalization Service
(INS) form I-94 for overseas departures from Idlewild Airport from April 7 to 10, 1962, failed to reflect name of subject.

A couple of years ago his widow who is worth about a $\frac{1}{2}$ million dollars set her son [redacted] up in business in the Parr Loan Company. [redacted] and his family had been [redacted] of the PARRILLA family for many years. He said that they came from the same town in Italy and had helped each other when they had any problems. At the time [redacted] started the loan company [redacted] was in financial difficulties and he asked the [redacted] for a job. At this time they took [redacted] into the Parr Loan Company.

b6
b7C

[redacted] he stated had always been a bookie and had many hoodlum friends. After becoming affiliated with Parr Loan Company, [redacted] began loaning money to hoodlums at high rates of interest. He completely controlled [redacted] who is a somewhat naive individual.

b6

b6
b7C

Chief NESTER advised that when JACKSON was murdered, Mrs. PARRILLA had come to him (NESTER) and told him the above story. She stated that she was afraid her [redacted] would end up being murdered and that she felt [redacted] was being muscled out of his own business. She said that because of the close family ties with the [redacted] family she could not ask [redacted] to get out of the business. Mrs. PARRILLA considered closing the business and just writing off the $200,000 she had invested into it.

b6
b7C

Chief NESTER told her that would not be necessary and that he would handle the matter. NESTER stated he went to [redacted] and told him he wanted him out of town by sun down. When [redacted] told NESTER he would not leave, NESTER took him to the station and fingerprinted and photographed him. He then told [redacted] that there were 49 top hoodlums who traveled through Oak Park and that he was going to have his men stop everyone of them as they came through town. They would then let it be known to the hoodlums that the only reason for the stops was because the Chief was mad at [redacted]. NESTER stated that [redacted] then agreed to leave Oak Park.

b6
b7C

NESTER stated that while working for Parr Loan Company, [redacted] had borrowed money from the Avenue State Bank and had started the More Finance Company using the same office as Parr Loan Company. The state department covering financial institutions said the Parr Loan office was too small for two offices and forced the two companies to separate. At the same time the Avenue State Bank forced [redacted] to return the money he had borrowed from them.

b6
b7C

CG 92-914

NESTER stated that [redacted] now has no connection with Parr Loan Company. He stated however that [redacted] is now operating More Finance Company at 754 North Leamington, Chicago, Illinois. b6
b7C

He stated that Mrs. PARRILLA is so grateful for NESTER's running [redacted] out of town that he is sure she would not lie to him. On 9/12/62, [redacted] furnished the following information:

There is to be a Grand Jury hearing this morning in Chicago re the fire at the Manor Lounge several years ago. He saw pictures the village fire department has of the interior of the Lounge after the fire. The pictures show large water jugs which were supposed to have been filled with gasoline, setting around in various locations in the Lounge.

He and Chief SIGNORELLI went to see [redacted] about referring accident cases to [redacted]. SIGNORELLI did not like [redacted] because [redacted] will not "drop" any money until a case is finished. Stone Park officials planned to pave certain streets in the village but a group of citizens, numbering approximately 52, got up a petition and hired two attorneys to oppose this action. The citizens' objection was they believed graft would be involved which they would have to pay for. CG T-6 furnished the following information on November 1, 1962:

CG T-6 stated that some time in September, 1962 ANGELA BATTAGLIA, wife of SAM BATTAGLIA, and CLARICE ACCARDO, wife of ANTHONY ACCARDO (Chicago hoodlum) had gone to Europe together for a two month vacation. They, however, cut the vacation short and returned to the Chicago area around the first part of October, 1962. She said they had gone with a group for a conducted tour. She said that they cut the vacation short because ANGELA missed her children and CLARICE wanted to get back to her husband to help him celebrate his acquittal on his income tax trial.

CG T-6 stated that ANGELA and SAM BATTAGLIA are devoted to their children and that at home SAM BATTAGLIA is a quiet, devoted father who loves children, and gives no indication of a hoodlum nature. CG T-6 stated that it was true that BATTAGLIA's sons did not know of their father's background until they saw him on television in connection with the KEVAUVER crime hearings several years ago.

CG T-6 advised that BATTAGLIA wants his sons to make their way in the world on their own merits and that he has not tried to have them follow in his footsteps.

CG 92-914

CG T-6 stated that BATTAGLIA has two sisters and at least two brothers, however, CG T-6 did not know their names.

CG T-6 advised that BATTAGLIA loves horses and almost his entire interest is now in his horse farm. CG T-6 stated that BATTAGLIA does not bet on the horses and claims that anyone who bets more than $2.00 on a horse is a fool.

CG T-6 related that BATTAGLIA's [redacted] [redacted] who had lived at [redacted] [redacted] and whom he had known since childhood. [redacted] is a [redacted] for the City of Chicago and the family has no hoodlum connections... The marriage was a forced affair in that [redacted] became pregnant by [redacted]. The two families, however, are on good terms and visit each others homes. [redacted] formerly worked for Twin Foods but is now employed by the School of Home Study, a correspondence school advertised on television. [redacted] reportedly works in the office which is located in the loop. CG T-6 did not know if SAM BATTAGLIA, SR. had any interest in this school or not.

b6
b7C

[redacted] Illinois 1962 license NB 1539 is registered to [redacted] on a Ford.

At 12:45 p.m. on November 27, 1962, SA [redacted] observed that a black sedan was parked in subject's garage at 1114 North Ridgeland, Oak Park, Illinois, with the motor running. It is to be noted that subject claimed rent income from property located at 3248 West Roosevelt for the years 1957, 1958, and 1959.

On December 14, 1962, SA [redacted] observed that 3248 West Roosevelt was a three story brick building. The upper two stories are apartments and the ground floor is a store presently occupied by Mc Gee's Lounge. It is to be noted that this location is now in an almost entirely colored neighborhood.

CG 92-914

b6
b7C

The Saturday, December 15, 1962, "Chicago Daily News" carried on Page 1 a story captioned, "First Ogilvie Raids Not 140." This story reflects a raid on the Casa Madrid at 171 North 28th Avenue, Melrose Park, which reportedly is operated by SAM PATTAGLIA. This story reads in part as follows:

"The Casa Madrid raid was led by OGILVIE's chief investigator, RICHARD CAIN, who said the night spot had been under investigation since OGILVIE took office.

"Armed with a search warrant signed by Northfield Twp. Justice of the Peace JOHN W. DEMICCHI, CAIN led 18 men into the tavern Friday night and carted off patrons in four County Jail prisoner vans.

"CAIN said all adult patrons would be charged with disorderly conduct.

"With more than half the people there being minors, they must have known they were in a place that was breaking the law," he said.

"This is going to be standard procedure in the future."

"Also arrested were the owner, PATRICK IOVINELLI, 42, and two bartenders, JOSEPH J. GRIFFIN, 26, of 7658 West Adams, and ANGELO THETE, 34, of 2359 S. 18th Av., Broadview. They were charged with selling liquor to minors.

CG 92-914

"The underage customers, nearly 20 of whom were 17 or younger, were released to their parents after charged with illegal liquor purchases."

[redacted] Chicago police officer, and [redacted] [redacted] of race horses, was contacted at the Sun Dance Ranch, Schaumburg, Illinois, on December 17, 1962. [redacted] stated that he is aware that SAM ETTAGLIA is an owner of the Free Meadow Stock Farm. He stated that undoubtedly ETTAGLIA is racing his horses, but that since he has a criminal record he has to race them under someone else's name.

b6
b7C

[redacted] stated that horse trainers [redacted] [redacted] all have handled horses bred at Free Meadows. He stated that he did not know if these horses had legitimate owners or whether the owners were just a front for ETTAGLIA.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that Free Meadows has a couple of good stud horses for which they charge a $1,000 stud fee.

[redacted] stated that he pays $70 a horse per month to Sun Dance Ranch for them to take care of his horses. He stated that Free Meadows charges $125 to $150 per month and that they use pressure on trainers and owners to make them keep their horses at Free Meadows.

[redacted] stated that ETTAGLIA and other hoodlums sometimes frequent the poolroom at May and Grand Avenue in Chicago. He stated that they also frequent Phil's Lounge, [redacted], at Chicago and Crawford.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised that the current owners of horses bred at Free Meadows could be ascertained by the following method:

CG 92-014

Obtain the name and number of all horses bred at Free Meadows from the Jockey Club at 200 5th Avenue, New York City, where all race horses are registered. Then check the names of the horses with the Illinois Racing Board at 160 North La Salle to ascertain the owners.

[redacted] stated that [redacted]
[redacted] owns Airview Farms. He stated that [redacted] may be connected with LATTAGLIA.

[redacted], The Jockey

BATTAGLIA, 1114 North Ridge Lane, Oak Park, Illinois, is the owner of Freemeadows Stock Farm, Route 1, Box 113, Pingree Road, Hampshire, Illinois. On 9/24/60, BATTAGLIA wrote to [redacted] provided a list of the names of the foals born on the farm from 1957 through 1961. He also provided [redacted] added that racing horses was a very expensive business and made the following estimates which vary a great deal. The cost of raising a foal to racing age of two years is a minimum of $2000 per year. When horses are at a track for racing or training, the minimum costs are $16 per day per horse to the trainer, plus 7½% to 12% of all purses or winnings, depending on the agreement, and $10 per day per horse for stable costs. He said a farm raising 15 to 20 foals plus the necessary mares to raise these foals, requires $400 to $500 per day for upkeep.

b6
b7C

[redacted] said for an owner to breed and race his own horses, unless he has some high stake winners, it is practically a sure loosing proposition.

NY 92-2404

[redacted] suggested that [redacted] now associated with the Illinois Racing Association, might be of assistance of any hidden ownership of horses. He said he thought [redacted] has been concerned with this in some recent investigations. [redacted] added this type of investigation is very difficult and all financial records must be scrutinized in great detail. He added that his office is ready to be of assistance to the FBI at any time in the future.

Miscellaneous

On 3/28/63 informant advised that SAM DE STEFANO had spent approximately one week at Gottlieb Hospital resting.

According to [redacted], he has regained the good graces of [redacted], WILLIE DADDANO. [redacted] has been placed by DADDANO as an "overseer" at DADDANO's liquor store, 16th and Kedzie. According to [redacted], he is to receive 50% of his uncle's end of the business for his work.

b6
b7C

{ On 4/8/63 [redacted] drove WILLIAM DADDANO to the Montclare Funeral Home to attend the wake of "MIKE KELLY". According to the informant, "MIKE KELLY" had been the partner of JACK CERONE in the operation of the Norwood House, a restaurant in a western suburb of Chicago. The informant was told by [redacted] that units of the Chicago Police Department Intelligence Division were in the area of the funeral home and attempted to stop DADDANO and [redacted] as they approached the [redacted] car. DADDANO at that time jumped into the car driven by SAM DE STEFANO, who took off and attempted to elude the police. DADDANO got out of the DE STEFANO car and ran into the funeral home, where the owner locked the doors after him. The owner of the funeral home refused the police admittance and during his discussion with the officers, DADDANO slipped out the back door. DE STEFANO was arrested by the police for driving his car the wrong way down a one-way street.

b6
b7C

[redacted] indicated that DADDANO was perturbed over this activity since he felt it indicated that he was wanted by the Chicago Police Department since they made no efforts to bother any other persons in attendance at the wake. [redacted] pointed out that every major person in the "outfit" attended this wake with the exception of SAM GIANCANI, who was not in town. Some of those present during the incident cited above were ANTHONY ACCARDO, "MILWAUKEE" PHIL ALDERISIO, SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA and JACK CERONE. It should be noted that SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA appeared in good health and was able to walk without assistance. It should be further noted that the "MIKE KELLY" referred to by the informant is the alias of MICHAEL SPRANZE, well known Chicago hoodlum figure.

CG [redacted]

On 4/11/63 the informant was asked to make a payment for [redacted] at the Citizens National Bank of Chicago, 5200 West Chicago. This payment in the sum of $106.00 was for Account Number A14121 under the name of [redacted]. [redacted]

b6

a friend of the ENGLISH brothers and DADDANO is the [redacted] at the Citizens National Bank of Chicago.

The informant advised that on 3/28/63, [redacted] had contacted JOE AIUPPA and [redacted] prominent hoodlum figures in Cicero, Illinois, to intercede for his brother, JOE ROMANO. JOE ROMANO is a moving picture projectionist having been sponsored for this position many years ago by his father, LOU ROMANO, former CAPONE bodyguard and until his retirement, a high ranking "outfit" personality. JOE ROMANO, due to financial difficulties was desirous of working extra time during his paid vacation period. This is against the policy of the Movie Operators Union but is a common practice for those individuals who are in favor with the union officials. AL ROMANO at the request of his brother, JOE, made an appointment to see JOE AIUPPA. When he contacted AIUPPA he was introduced to [redacted], whom he had known several years before. The informant advised that AL ROMANO believed that AIUPPA was the true controlling factor in the Movie Projectionist Union but during the course of his conversation got the definite impression that it was not AIUPPA but rather [redacted], who controlled the union. [redacted] told ROMANO that he felt he could help JOE ROMANO and would let him know in a week or ten days.

b6
b7C

Informant advised that approximately two weeks past following the above conversation with no word from [redacted] to ROMANO. He pointed out that the situation was peculiar in this regard:

b6
b7C

On one prior occasion several years ago JOE ROMANO had successfully secured the help of WILLIAM DADDANO to secure some favors from the movie projectionists union. When LOU ROMANO learned of DADDANO'S intercession, he became extremely irate and went directly to ANTHONY ACCARDO, then the Number 1 man of the "outfit", to complain. LOU ROMANO said that he was his son's sponsor and that no one could intercede on.

CG

b7D

behalf of JOE ROMANO except his sponsor. Since LOU ROMANO was on the outs with his son, JOE, at this time he did not want any favors done for JOE ROMANO. As a result of this, WILLIE DADDANO backed down and withdrew his offer of help.

b6
b7C

[redacted] advised AL ROMANO that the above situation had not changed and he was very foolish to request [redacted] and AIUPPA to intercede for JOE ROMANO when LOU ROMANO did not do so.

On 4/20/63 AL ROMANO recontacted [redacted], who advised him that he was in the process of making arrangements for JOE ROMANO but the final action would have to wait until the "G" had concluded their investigation at union headquarters. This, he expected, would occur within a week or ten days.

b6

On 4/3/63 informant advised that [redacted] continues to be closely associated with [redacted], [redacted] resides at [redacted] and his phone number is [redacted]. Informant believes that [redacted] are again dealing in narcotics. This information has been disseminated to the Federal Narcotics Bureau.

On 4/11/63 informant advised that the father-in-law of JACK CERONE, name unknown to the informant, had died and was being waked at the Montclare Funeral Home as of 4/10/63. Among those in attendance at the wake on that night were DOMINIC CORTINA, FRANK BUCCIERI and JACK CERONE. Also in attendance was one [redacted] (LNU), who drove a car bearing 1963 Illinois license [redacted]. This license is registered to [redacted] on

b7C

a Chevrolet. In connection with CERONE and the death earlier this month of "MIKE KELLY" SPRANZE, informant advised that in 1958 AL ROMANO and [redacted] had robbed a gambling establishment operating under the protection of JACK CERONE. The fact that CERONE controlled this operation was unknown at the time of the robbery to ROMANO. Shortly after the robbery, ROMANO and [redacted] were advised that their identities were known and that they would be called to account for their actions. At that time they went to Moon's Sandwich Shop, Chicago and Harlem, where they saw JOE GAGLIANO, a lieutenant of CERONE. GAGLIANO indicated to them that the particular matter was too big for him to make a decision on indicating that they would have to deal directly with JACK CERONE.

CG

b7D

A few days later [REDACTED] and ROMANO were called to the Norwood House and they presented their case before JACK CERONE and MIKE KELLY (SPRANZE). Both men were given a pass by CERONE for their offense, due, according to CERONE, to his regard for ROMANO's father, LOU ROMANO.

b6
b7C

[REDACTED] On 4/11/63 informant advised that [REDACTED] of SAM GIANCANA, is now regularly seen with [REDACTED] (LNU), aka. [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was a [REDACTED] of SAM GIANCANA at federal prison and several years ago [REDACTED] Number 10 Club at 10 South Pulaski. [REDACTED] is in his early 50's and is believed by the informant to be Jewish.

The informant advised that the Spa, a tavern at North Avenue and Cicero, is a congregating place for many Chicago criminals. On the night of 4/10/63 informant saw "BUCK" CLEMENTE in the Spa and learned that CLEMENTE had recently returned from Florida with WILLIAM DADDANO.

[REDACTED] On 4/11/63 [REDACTED] and one [REDACTED] (LNU) were together at [REDACTED] drug store across the street from [REDACTED] tobacco warehouse. [REDACTED] has subsequently been identified as [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] On the same date [REDACTED] left work at noon to play golf.

On 4/25/63 informant advised that [redacted] and [redacted] (true name [redacted]) beat up [redacted] during the past week. The beating was to remind [redacted] that he still owed [redacted] money.

b6
b7C

On the same day the informant was told by [redacted] [redacted] that there has been no bookmaking in the Loop area for the last year and a half. [redacted] said that any bookmaking in that area has been on a "sneak" basis without any "outfit" protection or cut. [redacted] indicated that the reason for this close-down was the pressure exerted by FBI Agents in connection with their investigation of GUS ALEX and FRANK "STRONGY" FERRARO. [redacted] said that both men had 60 agents investigating them attempting to locate their office and payoff sites. Because of this ALEX and FERRARO directed all bookmaking to cease in the Loop area. [redacted] went on to say that he believed that SID FRAZIN, well known Loop bookmaker and muscle man was murdered last year for failure to follow these orders.

[redacted] occupied a room on that date. On this same Room Sheet, however, it was reflected that a guest using the name SALVATORE occupied Room 3 at the Plaza Motel on 3/12/63, and that in Room 3 was a party of two and they checked out on 3/12/63.

b7C

A Room Sheet for the Plaza Motel for 3/11/63 reflects that no guest by the name of [redacted] occupied a room on that date; however, on 3/11/63 a party of two whose names were listed on the Room Sheet for 3/11/63 as [redacted] and SALVATORE checked in and occupied Room 3 on the evening of 3/11/63. This Room Sheet contained no further pertinent information except it did reflect that the registration card for this check-in was #1914.

b6
b7C

The Plaza Motel registration card #1914 was not executed by any guest; however, this card does contain the name [redacted], and the notation on the card "voucher". [redacted] explained that this name was written on there by a Plaza Motel employee as well as the word "voucher", and that indicates that this party stopped at the Plaza Motel on 3/11/63, using an airlines voucher. She added that this means that this party was traveling through Atlanta by air, name of the airlines not known, and that the party for some reason had to spend an unscheduled stop in the City of Atlanta. Since the bill was being paid by some airlines, this means that the layover in Atlanta by the traveling party was caused by the airlines, either a reservation mix-up, bad weather or mechanical failure of the plane. [redacted] added that the airlines involved pays the motel and the guest or guests stopping at the motel are not required to complete any registration card.

b6
b7C

[redacted] also made available a Plaza Motel record which reflects that on 3/12/63 a guest named

b6
b7C

AT 92-374

SALVATORE made a telephone call from the Plaza Motel to Melrose Park, state not shown, and the cost of the call was $1.05. No other details concerning this call are contained in this record.

Upon reflection, [redacted] advised that she can personally recall that two female guests, whom she is quite certain are the ones who occupied Room 3 at the Plaza Motel on the evening of 3/11/63, before departing the motel on the morning of 3/12/63, stopped for a while in the lobby of the motel where [redacted] had occasion to observe them. She remembered these two persons were both foreign appearing, having dark hair and dark complexions, and she remembers they conversed with each other in a foreign language which she believes to have been Spanish.

b6
b7C

[redacted] admitted that she is not certain she would be able to distinguish the Spanish from the Italian language should she hear either spoken. She remembers that the younger of these two guests was about 35 years of age, of very small build and short. The other appeared to be between 50 and 55 years of age and of much heavier build. She remembers that the younger of the two guests spoke English; however, she did not ever hear the older speak in English. [redacted] added that these two guests caused no trouble whatsoever during their stay at the Plaza Motel, and they gave no indication that they had any intention of engaging in any irreputable activity while at this motel.

Atlanta Office indices are negative regarding any persons mentioned herein.

Since it is apparent that the individuals making the telephone call from Atlanta to subject's telephone on 3/12/63 were in this city only as a transitory stop-over, further investigation regarding them will not be made.

[redacted] On May 29, 1963, informant advised SA [redacted] that JACK CERONE had indicated that while he was playing golf at Tam O'Shanter Country Club on May 29, 1963, he, CERONE, learned that SAM "TEETS" BATTAGLIA had suffered a heart attack on that day and was hospitalized in an unknown hospital.

b6
b7C

not about [redacted]
On May 31, 1963, informant advised that the identity of the hospital where BATTAGLIA was a patient had not been made known to the informant and informant was not in a position to make inquiry in this regard.

On June 6, 1963, informant furnished the following information to SAs [redacted]:

b6
b7C

On May 29, 1963, JOSEPH GAGLIANO and JACK CERONE met at the Seven Continents Restaurant at O'Hare Field, at which time they conferred "concerning business transactions". GAGLIANO informed CERONE that several thousand dollars in collections and payoffs had been made for CERONE by GAGLIANO. GAGLIANO indicated that he worked directly for CERONE and spends a majority of his time picking up payments from juice loans and collections from vending machines and jukeboxes in the Chicago area. The payoffs referred to by GAGLIANO were believed by informant to constitute monies that CERONE had paid to certain business establishments in order to pave the way for utilizing the vending machines placed there by GAGLIANO.

CERONE indicated in his conversation with GAGLIANO that the jukeboxes were being placed through the Commercial Phonograph Survey Company operated ostensibly by [redacted]. CERONE told GAGLIANO that "we have done enough for [redacted]. Why does he keep crying. GAGLIANO remarked that a new car had been purchased for [redacted] and it seemed that [redacted] was never happy.

b6
b7C

CERONE exhibited to GAGLIANO a sheet of paper containing the receipts and payouts for Orlando's Hideaway Restaurant and Cocktail Lounge located on Mannheim Road in Schiller Park, Illinois. CERONE told GAGLIANO that he, CERONE, "had a piece of this place and it appeared to be doing pretty well".

CG [redacted]

b7D

CERONE informed GAGLIANO that his 1963 Grand Prix black Pontiac had just recently been made tamper proof with a burglar alarm system which he had installed. CERONE said that the reason for installing this burglar alarm system was that he returned to his car two or three weeks ago and found the dashboard turned up, which indicated to him that the Police were trying to "bug" his car. CERONE said that either the Police or FBI follow him 24 hours a day and "at least I have my car where they can't get to it".

CERONE further mentioned that he had picked up the tab for [redacted] at a restaurant recently inasmuch as [redacted] was graduating from school. This cost CERONE $500.

b6
b7C

GAGLIANO and CERONE talked about meeting places and GAGLIANO said that "we can't use any of the old places as the "Feds" are wise to them. GAGLIANO recently made a meet at the museum in Jackson Park, where he took an elevator up several floors and then walked down two floors to meet the unidentified persons.

CERONE indicated that [redacted] owed him $1,400 and that there was going to be trouble if it was not paid. On May 29, 1963, CERONE met his girl friend at O'Hare Field. The girl's first name is [redacted] and she goes to school in New York. CERONE had previously met her in Florida. She is the daughter of some socialite who resides in Lake Forest, Illinois, and is described as a white female, [redacted], bleached blonde hair. She arrived on United Airlines Flight 846, which was scheduled to arrive at O'Hare Field at 9:00 PM, but was late and arrived at 10:30. After meeting [redacted] CERONE drove her to the Norwood House where they had dinner. While dining at the Norwood House, CERONE was called from the table for what appeared to be a pre-arranged meeting with "NEEDLES" GIANOLA. GIANOLA spoke with CERONE in a friendly manner for a few minutes and then left.

b6
b7C

JOE GAGLIANO meets [redacted] for business purposes at the cocktail lounge in the International Motel, located on Mannheim Road in Schiller Park, Illinois. GAGLIANO maintains a room, number B1, in the motel, which is utilized by GAGLIANO, as well as "some other outfit guys" who were unknown to informant. GAGLIANO is a personal friend of the owner of the motel, first name [redacted], and who also owns the Banquet-on-a-Bun Restaurant chain in Chicago. GAGLIANO is a good friend of a bartender for the International Motel whose first name is [redacted] and who accepts calls for GAGLIANO. Both [redacted] and PHIL ALDERISIO have been observed by informant at the International Motel as well as another outfit guy named [redacted].

b6
b7C

GAGLIANO's son was scheduled to graduate from grade school in June, 1963, and is [redacted] years of age. His daughter's name is [redacted] nicknamed [redacted], and is three or four years old.

b6
b7C

GAGLIANO recently moved his boat and presently has it stored at Burnham Harbor in Chicago. The boat will sleep six people and is named Lucky Joe or Lonesome Joe. He said he was going to take the boat to Mexico with him this summer.

On June 5, 1963, PHIL ALDERISIO had cocktails at the Aberdeen Lounge and lunch at the Normandy House. ALDERISIO stated that he and CHUCK NICOLETTI were interested in locating [redacted]. Informant believes that [redacted] owes juice money to ALDERISIO and NICOLETTI.

b6
b7C

During a conversation on May 31, 1963, JOE GAGLIANO indicated that he believed that ROCKY INFELICE is dead as he has not been seen around town nor has any of his friends heard from him.

[redacted] replied that he was originally from the Chicago area and, of course, had friends there. He was then asked if he had ever loaned this automobile to JACK CERONE or [redacted]. [redacted] replied that he did not know anyone by the name of JACK CERONE or [redacted]. He was then asked if he was in the habit of loaning his automobile to persons other than friends. He stated that he had an elderly mother in Miami whom he was trying to take care of. He stated that the bar in the Golden Nugget Motel is now closed because of lack of customers, and advised that he is merely biding his time and waiting for sufficient patronage at the Golden Nugget Motel in order that he could re-open the bar.

On June 11, 1963, [redacted] Broward County Credit Bureau, advised they had no information in their files for KUNNY.

On June 13, 1963, SA [redacted] conducted the following investigation at Atlanta, Georgia:

CG 92-914

The current Atlanta Telephone Directory reflects that the subscriber for Atlanta telephone 366-1854 is the Plaza Motel, located on the South Freeway. This motel is some twelve miles south of downtown Atlanta but maintains an Atlanta address.

[redacted] Plaza Motel, South
Freeway, advised that the names [redacted] mean nothing to her and she had never heard either name.
She also determined from the other [redacted] employed at the Plaza Motel, [redacted] that neither of these names is familiar to him.

b6
b7C

[redacted] made available for inspection the Room Sheet for the Plaza Motel for March 12, 1963; however, this record failed to reflect that any guest by the name of [redacted] occupied a room on that date. On this same Room Sheet, however, it was reflected that a guest using the name [redacted] occupied Room 3 at the Plaza Motel on March 12, 1963, and that in Room 3 was a party of two and they checked out on March 12, 1963.

b6
b7C

A Room Sheet for the Plaza Motel for March 11, 1963 reflects that no guest by the name of [redacted] or [redacted] occupied a room on that date; however, on March 11, 1963, a party of two, whose names were listed on the Room Sheet for March 11, 1963 as [redacted] checked in and occupied Room 3 on the evening of March 11, 1963. This Room Sheet contained no further pertinent information except it did reflect that the registration card for this check-in was #1914.

b6
b7C

The Plaza Motel registration card #1914 was not executed by any guest; however, this card does contain the name [redacted] and the notation on the card "voucher". [redacted] explained that this name was written on there by a Plaza Motel employee as well as the word "voucher", and that indicates that this party stopped at the Plaza Motel on March 11, 1963, using an airlines

b6
b7C

CG 02-014

voucher. She added that this means that this party was traveling through Atlanta by air, name of the airlines not known, and that the party for some reason had to spend an unscheduled stop in the City of Atlanta. Since the bill was being paid by some airlines, this means that the layover in Atlanta by the traveling party was caused by the airlines, either a reservation mix-up, bad weather or mechanical failure of the plane. [redacted] added that the airlines involved pays the motel and the guest or guests staying at the motel are not required to complete any registration card.

b6
b7C

[redacted] also made available a Plaza Motel record which reflects that on March 12, 1963, a guest named [redacted] made a telephone call from the Plaza Motel to Melrose Park, state not shown, and the cost of this call was $1.05. No other details concerning this call are contained in this record.

Upon reflection, [redacted] advised that she can personally recall that two female guests, whom she is quite certain are the ones who occupied Room 3 at the Plaza Motel on the evening of March 11, 1963, before departing the motel on the morning of March 12, 1963, stopped for a while in the lobby of the motel where [redacted] had occasion to observe them. She remembered these two persons were both foreign appearing, having dark hair and dark complexions, and she remembers they conversed with each other in a foreign language which she believes to have been Spanish. [redacted] admitted that she is not certain she would be able to distinguish the Spanish from the Italian language should she hear either spoken. She remembers that the younger of these two guests was about 35 years of age, of very small build and short. The other appeared to be between 50 and 55 years of age and of much heavier build. She remembers that the younger of the two guests spoke English; however, she did not ever hear the older speak in English. [redacted] added that these two guests caused no trouble whatsoever during their stay at the Plaza Motel, and they gave no indication that they had any intention of engaging in any irresponsible activity while at this motel.

advised as follows:

He advised that he was in Las Vegas, Nevada, at the Desert Inn Hotel and at the Star Dust Hotel sometime during the late 1950s or possibly as late as 1960, when the well known oil millionaire [redacted] lost very heavily at the gambling casinos of those hotels. He advised that he recalls that it was approximately $110, that [redacted] lost on one week end during the above period of time. He advised further that it is his understanding that [redacted] during recent years has lost up to $400,000 in Las Vegas gambling casinos and that he has not been able to re-pay this money. He advised that the $110,000 which he personally is aware of through observations on his part was secured by markers which [redacted] gave to the operators of the Desert Inn and the Star Dust. He therefore advised that it is his opinion that the recent altercation between MARSHAL CAIFANO and [redacted] was as a result of [redacted] failure to make good on payments incurred as a result of the above gambling losses and not due to the fact that CAIFANO was attempting to extort money for protection purposes from [redacted].

b6
b7Cb6
b7C

He also advised that he is given to understand that a HARRY KARL, present husband of actress DEBBIE REYNOLDS, also is heavily in debt to operators of Las Vegas gambling casinos and that possibly he will be contacted in the very near future by someone acting as a collector for the Chicago hoodlums who have interests in the Desert Inn and the Star Dust in order that KARL make restitution in regard to his losses. He identified KARL further as the owner of a chain of shoe stores on the West Coast.

He identified one [redacted] as being a well known New York [redacted] who is a close personal friend of SAM GIANCANA and who has done some business for GIANCANA in the past. He was unable to furnish any information concerning the nature of this business.

He identified FRANK SINATRA as being a close personal friend of GIANCANA, who is in practically daily contact with GIANCANA.

CG

b7D

He identified [redacted] as being the mistress of SAM GIANCANA.

b6
b7C

He advised that SAM GIANCANA does not trust any of his subordinates in the affairs of organized crime. He stated that GIANCANA has considerable financial interests in Las Vegas gambling casinos and that GIANCANA makes frequent trips to Las Vegas where he personally collects the proceeds from the money which is skimmed off the top of these gambling casinos. He stated that due to GIANCANA's distrust of his subordinates, GIANCANA himself picks up this money and carries it back to Chicago. He advised that he is aware that on some occasions the amount of money picked up by GIANCANA totals almost [redacted] a half million dollars. He advised that it is GIANCANA's practice to fly from Chicago to Los Angeles, where he has an individual, whose identity is unknown to this informant, rent a car which GIANCANA then drives from Los Angeles, to Las Vegas where he collects the proceeds of gambling.

He advised that SAM GIANCANA as of approximately two years ago spent considerable time at the Mist located on Montrose Avenue, and at the Armory Lounge in Forest Park, Illinois.

He stated that MARSHALL CAIFANO previously has made almost daily visits to the Casa Madrid gambling operation in Melrose Park. It is the opinion of this individual that CAIFANO had a financial interest with SAM BATTAGLIA in the Casa Madrid.

He gained the impression that ALBERT "OBIE" FRABOTTA is the individual who murdered ROGER TUOHY.

He identified TONY ACCARDO's closest friend as being BEN FILLICHIO, the owner of Austin Liquors in the Chicago area. It is noted that Austin Liquors is a large chain of liquor retailers in this area.

He identified JACKIE CERONE as being a very powerful figure in the affairs of organized crime in the Chicago area. He advised that years ago CERONE was a subordinate of TONY ACCARDO

CG [redacted]

b7D

when ACCARDO was the head of organized criminals here. He advised that at that time CERONE did most of the contact work for ACCARDO and learned the ins and outs of the "business". Therefore, at the present time CERONE has become a very powerful mobster in this area.

✓ N6 He has been told by a close associate of SAM GIANCANA that MARSHALL CAIFANO is a "fair-haired boy who can do no wrong in the eyes of GIANCANA". He advised that MILWAUKEE PHIL ALDERISIO, OBBIE FRABOTTA, and MARSHALL CAIFANO are three of the leading "hit men" in Chicago and that they take "contracts" from other organizations located in other cities in the United States. He stated that he has been advised that GIANCANA considers these three individuals as the "best in the hit business".

He identified [redacted] restaurant as being a favorite hangout of MURRAY HUMPHREYS.

On August 9, 1963, informant advised that ALEX ALDERISIO is very upset over the recently published newspaper articles concerning himself. He said that if it was not for his son, he would take photographs of FBI Agents, Sheriff's detectives and [redacted] and print them in pamphlet form, as no newspaper would print it for him. He would claim in this pamphlet that the law enforcement officers were being paid off and embarrass them like he is being embarrassed before his wife, adopted boy, and neighbors.

He stated he is supposed to be in charge of gambling in Kankakee, Illinois, according to the press and he has never been there nor has he ever had anything to do with thefts from interstate shipments as reported in the newspapers. ALDERISIO stated that [redacted] is very vain and he has never cared for or trusted her.

With public opinion against the syndicate the Department of Justice feels they have a better chance of a jury convicting them.

ALDERISIO has never brought up the matter of informant exchanging bad money for good money again.

ALDERISIO advised him that Friday, August 9, 1963, he would be out of town and possibly not return until Sunday, August 11, 1963. He did not say where he was going.

He said that it looked like all of the Federal agencies were ganging up on them, and pointed out that in the SAM GIANCANA matter the Supreme Court set a new world record in refusing to hear that case.

The informant advised that [redacted] worked for [redacted] about four years ago collecting money from different accounts through the use of muscle and threats.

Regarding SAM BATTAGLIA, who is in with GIANCANA at Mary Lou's in Melrose Park, [redacted] recalls that BATTAGLIA has a joint on the south side someplace, address not recalled. She also recalls that [redacted] at the Chicago School of Beauty Culture from 1960 until about October, 1962.

Regarding strip shows, informant stated that during the time [redacted], at the Pad, all of the girls there could leave at any time providing they had a trick. It is a fifty-fifty split with the girls which they had to pay to [redacted] but a girl could keep anything over $50.00 for herself, there was in addition to the regular commission they received on drinks. Any time anyone who is known to be a police officer or suspected of being a police officer is there, someone at the Pad will place a frosted glass in front of this person and as a result all of the girls stay away from him.

b6
b7C

Regarding the 606 Club, she recalls this was recently sold or taken over by someone whom she believes to be a former doorman or manager of one of the other clubs. The name is unrecalled.

Regarding the Crossroads, [redacted] at the Crossroads, is very ambitious and fixes up the girls or puts girls onto a trick.

b6
b7C

[redacted] (LNU), a former policeman who has been disabled, works at the Cabana together with [redacted].

CG [redacted]

MIKE ELLIS of the Cabana Club had to pay off to get his license back and [redacted] believes [redacted] is an individual who has been in and out of the strip joint business for some 35 years. [redacted] used [redacted] to get his license back.

b6
b7C

Regarding Officer [redacted] of the Chicago Police Department, he is believed to be very ambitious, however, on the raid at the Cabana, [redacted] would not take a payoff even though he was pressed for money and his wife was having a child. All of the strippers at the Cabana were released and subsequently acquitted because no doubt someone higher up than [redacted] is taking the payoff, however, this person is unknown to the informant.

b6
b7C

Regarding the raid on the Cabana, the informant stated that most places get calls from police officers before there is a raid. On this particular occasion a stripper by the name of [redacted], who is married but her husband is on the West Coast and [redacted] now being a [redacted] on the Showboat on the Chicago River, received a telephone call from [redacted] a Chicago police officer believed to be [redacted] or some name similar to that, at which time [redacted] was told that the vice detectives were going to raid the Cabana. Because of the fact that [redacted] has always had a tendency to embellish and tell half truths and lies, no one took her seriously and that is why the raid was successful.

b6
b7C

Whenever a police officer comes into the Cabana and girls are working on the individual, a waitress will come up to the girl or girls and tell them that they have a message or phone call and to see the manager. This way they can be pulled off of the suspected officer. The girls at the Cabana keep swizzle sticks in order to keep track of the commission on the drinks that they are entitled to.

The Pad gives each girl a receipt which she must turn in at the end of each night. At all of the locations the informant has worked each girl is paid off in cash for hustling drinks at the end of each night.

CG [redacted]

In all of the places [redacted], the girls have to use spit glasses in which they are served Rhine Wine and Seltzer as champagne, however, the smart girls will always ask that a bottle of champagne be opened in front of them in order that they can be sure that they are not getting drinks which have been spit back. Only a few girls can get away with this, depending upon how important they are to the group.

[redacted] five photographs. two of which were not too clear. Picture Number One is [redacted] the club in the 1400 or 1500 block of West Madison and works for [redacted]. This photograph was taken sometime in 1959. Photograph Number Two, taken in 1959, is the picture of [redacted] who are now [redacted] split up. Picture Number Three, taken in 1959, is [redacted] and one [redacted], who is a pimp who hangs out in the Paradise located at Pulaski and West End Avenues. [redacted] lives at the [redacted] on Pulaski and Washington. These photographs can be located in [redacted] file.
